- If authors look up fanfiction/fanart about their own stories
- If the mods actually recognize you if you've caused trouble before or something
- If mods stalk roleplays
- If Tui stalks roleplays
- If Tui reads fanfiction from the forums
- If the mods are watching the forums burn and they're like "let's not do anything about it" or if they're just not looking at the forums

No, when the forums burn the mods gather in a circle and roast marshmallows and hot dogs while speaking in modtongue. When the flames die down too low, they throw a couple bans on the fire.

I think they're watching it burn. They do reply so they have to see some of the things on here.

Yeah...I was reading Eliza and Her Monsters, and in the book, the girl has a webcomic but she tries to avoid looking at fan stuff in case it bleeds through and she makes it part of the actual comic by mistake and then the people who made the fan stuff said "hey you stole my idea"
